The announcement by Mr. Nixon that the drastic regulations were no longer in force was made after a conference with Mr. Hardin. The conference took place following Mr. Hardin's receipt of the following telegram from the Central Coal Committee at Washington:

"Effective at once the restrictions imposed by order of the Fuel Administration on December 8 governing the use of heat, light and power generated by public utilities companies from bituminous coal and coke are hereby removed until further notice. This

"This decision against your plan took the power to fix prices and gave it to the commission?" inquired Senator Frelinghuysen.

"Yes." Dr. Garfield replied.
Dr. Garfield admitted to Mr. Freling-huysen that, unless there is an abundant production of coal, thus through national causes keeping the price down, even the 14 per cent increase which he proposed amounting to about $107,000,000 a year—would be passed on to the public after the expiration of the Lever act, which dies at the proclamation of peace.

Allies to Accept Some Reservations In Hope U. S. Will Ratify Treaty

PARIS, Dec. 13 .- As a result of the conferences being held in London by Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau, the American government will be notified that in order to facilitate a compromise between adverse parties in the American Senate the Allies are willing to accept, to as great an extent as possible, some of the reservations to the Versailles Treatv made by the Foreign Relations Committee,

It is said the Allies will "do everything in order that America may participate in future conferences." Important problems, the newspaper adds, will henceforth be settled by a council of the Premiers of France, England and Italy. In the presence of John W. Davis, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, it is said, Premiers Clemenceau and Lloyd George assured Vitterio Scialoia, Italian Foreign Minister, that there was a necessity for an early settlement of the Fiume problem, and indicated England would intercede with the United States for Italy.
